Bishop Charles Henry Fowler, D.D., LL.D.

The subject of this memoir was the thirty-seventh in the order of the election of general superintendents of the Methodist Episcopal Church, thirty-six having preceded him out of the sixty-four who had been elevated to that high estate prior to the General Conference of 1908. He had, at his last birthday, fulfilled the psalmist's declaration, "The days of our years are threescore years and ten." He was born at Burford, Canada, August 11, 1837, and died in New York city, March, 20, 1908.

Bishop Fowler achieved distinction not alone in the denomination that elevated him to the highest office in its gift but as an orator whose pulpit and platform efforts placed him in the front rank of the representative ecclesiastics of his day and generation. He was graduated from Genesee College, Lima, N. Y., matriculated in Garrett Biblical Institute, was graduated therefrom in 1861 in which year he was received on trial in the Rock River Conference and served the church for twelve consecutive years thereafter as the pastor of five charges in the city of Chicago, Ill. In 1873 he was elected president of Northwestern University. He was elected a delegate to the General Conference of 1872, and again to that of 1876 at which session he was elected Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. In 1880 he was elected Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society, and in 1884 Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, remaining in the effective relation until his decease. "The personality of Bishop Fowler," said the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, "was unique. President McKinley compared him in some particulars to Lincoln; he was a born wit, and, like him, would seize any form of speech as a vehicle for either wit or humor. The grotesque appealed to him, and his mind, his memory, reason and fancy were all represented in his picturesque characterizations or portrayals.

"At the Genesee Conference of 1906 (he being ill), at a time of particular trouble and difficulty, he endeared himself to the members of that large body by his wisdom, his manner, and his spirit.

"The relation of Bishop Fowler to politics was peculiar. He began his career as a minister in the midst of the civil war and all his sympathies were aroused. He was captain of the Students' Home Guards in 1861, and made many speeches in support of the administration of President Lincoln. He defended the government with the greatest zeal, and his addresses aroused waves of enthusiasm that made soldiers —waves on which men who never imagined they would enlist were borne along until they found themselves face to face with the enemy.

"Bishop Fowler's view of salvation rested firmly on the evangelical interpretation of the plan of atonement and all through his ministry he stood for that. He abhorred the destruction of the simplicity of the gospel as it was taught by the apostles and by Christ himself.

"In Los Angeles during the General Conference of 1904 he delivered a sermon principally upon sin, its subtlety, its tyranny, its all-pervasive nature. Of those who heard it many trembled, for they knew, as he did, that 'If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us'; 'If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.' But he demonstrated that at the last analysis the hope of man is in the proclamation that 'If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.' With that sermon imbedded in his brain, and depending wholly upon the Advocate with the Father, he departed this life."

His obsequies consisted of a prayer service at his late residence, 338 West Seventy-second Street, followed by public services in Madison Avenue Church, New York city. The remains were deposited in the receiving vault at Woodlawn Cemetery.
